40 years ago our first Bernese Mountain Dog, Canto vom Lorenziberg, came into our family so I can say, these dogs have accompanied me throughout my entire life.
 Over the years, my family and I have been actively involved in club work for the Austrian Club for Swiss Mountain- and Cattle Dogs (VSSÖ). I have served as club secretary have written the club-newspaper for some years. Since 2019 I am a member of the VSSÖ Breeding Commission.
 Already as a child I enjoyed spending my weekends at dog shows, working as ring assistant, then as ring secretary or as ring steward. In 2018 I finished my education as FCI-Show-Judge for all four breeds of Swiss mountain- and cattle dogs and have since then judged international Shows and Club-Shows in Austria, Germany, the Czech Republic and in Switzerland.
 As Show-Judge I am not only committed to the beauty of our dogs, but also to a respectful and ethical way of handling and judging them according to the breed standards and our FCI rules.

My first childhood dog, a Giant Schnauzer, came into our family following my very insistant begging, joined soon after by a Labrador Retriever. I took my first steps in the dog world in the mid 90s in the junior handler competitions, with our yellow Labrador bitch, with whom we started breeding. She was joined in 1997 by our first Bernese Mountain Dog imported from Switzerland. After having been implicated in the breeding and showing of our BMDs through my childhood alongside my family, I fully took over both during my studies. I am passionate about dogs, and still own and breed bitches descending from our Swiss import. Whilst also owning and breeding retrievers and griffon bruxellois and belge, I remain very partial to our gorgeous Swiss breeds, which I have been judging since 2015.
